

L. P. Fisher, newspapers advertising agents, 21 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, is our authorized agent. This paper is kept on file in his office.

THE NATIONAL ISSUE.

One thing is as certain as the continued existence of the world—free coinage will never be restored through the action of either one or both of the old parties—the only hope for it is through a third great national party with which every silver advocate must ally himself. The struggle for bimetalism must be fought out in the arena of the nation. It is neither a State nor a sectional issue. Whoever would make it such dwells its magnitude and endangers its success.

The People's party can be made an instrument for this great achievement. If it shall be it must give the question the importance its immensity demands and send every other issue to the rear as secondary to that one absorbing question.

The distress in every section of the country is the outcome of silver's demonization. The starving prices the farmer receives for his crops and stock, the shrinkage in every line of wages, the paralysis in every form of industry, the loss of homes and the departed trade of merchants are all the outcome of driving silver from the mints and forcing the country to the single gold standard.

The men who are deliberately engaged in establishing the gold standard are the great criminals of the century. They are starving men, women and children; they are driving men and women to crime; they are pauperizing States and nations; they are heaping heavier and more bitter curses upon the world than those who sow war, pestilence and famine.

The silver cause must be made the chief issue in the future. No party that falters in its national or state organizations to boldly declare for bimetalism should receive the support of honest men. Will the members of the People's party lead in this great movement and thus compel the support of all lovers of freedom and humanity?—Denver News.

The Police and the Law.

The papers of San Francisco complain that the police of that city have taken advantage of the law which is behind them in the discharge of their duties. The duties of a policeman are necessarily perilous, and he not only requires the law's protection but in many instances must resort to the use of firearms.

Take away the protection of the law and you take away the fear a criminal has of the officer. They are both placed on an equality, and it simply means the survival of the fittest.

An officer should be empowered to resort to any means at his hands to subdue a criminal resisting arrest. It will have the effect of wiping out the resistance offered to arresting officers. An officer in the discharge of his duty should feel confident of the protection of the law that is behind him, or he cannot perform his duty as becomes an officer of the law.
